Grange Against Redistricting

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Grange overwhelmingly adopted nine resolutions Thursday condemning the mandatory school district reorganization legislation and demanding repeal of what it termed "this ridiculous law."

The resolutions, reaffirming a position taken at last year's convention before the bill was signed into law, were among many passed Thursday at the Grange's 89th annual convention.

Molotov Accused By Communists

MOSCOW (AP)—Old Bolshevik V. M. Molotov was accused at the 22nd Soviet Communist party congress Thursday of assailing Premier Khrushchev's new 20-year program to win Communist support abroad.

Otto Kuusinen, member of the ruling party Presidium, pressed home the congress theme that the time has come to oust Stalin's foreign minister from the Communist party.

The latest attack on Molotov came as the people read for the first time in reports of congress proceedings that he had written a letter to the party Central Committee calling Khrushchev's program "antirevolutionary, pacifist and revisionist."

Nobel Literature Prize Awarded

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Ivo Andric, 69, a Yugoslav author who wrote the dark currents of modern life into a powerful trilogy of novels drawn from his country's troubled past, was awarded the 1961 Nobel Prize for Literature Thursday.

A prewar diplomat who was Yugoslavia's last minister to Hitler's Germany, Andric now is a member of Communist Yugoslavia's Parliament. He lives quietly in a Belgrade apartment where he wrote "The Bridge on the Drina," "The Travnik Chronicle" and "Mist" while Nazi soldiers patrolled the streets outside during the wartime occupation.

U. S. To Ask No Interference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will formally ask the Soviet Union Friday to put an immediate end to interference with American officials who visit East Berlin.

Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson received instructions to lodge an official protest in Moscow, State Department spokesman Lincoln White said.

White told a news conference Thompson was instructed "to discuss the unilateral actions taken by the Soviet side" in East Berlin where East German Communist police have requested U.S. officials to identify themselves when crossing the line dividing the two parts of the city.

Remove Policy Powers On Silver

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has quietly removed virtually all authority over silver policy from the Bureau of the Mint, soon to be headed by a woman long associated with silver partisans.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon issued a directive Oct. 9 transferring policy powers on domestic gold and silver questions to Undersecretary Robert V. Roosa. The only announcement was routine publication of the directive in the Federal Register.

Dillon also set up a new office of domestic gold and silver operations. To direct this office, he named Leland Howard, the veteran assistant director of the mint.

Transportation Strike In Paris

PARIS (AP) — Weary Frenchmen struggled through a nationwide rail and bus strike Thursday with virtually no public transport. There were many traffic pile-ups in Paris.

And while the country could look forward to normal transport service Friday, Parisians still face a morning with little light or gas. Electricity and gas workers were set to shut down or reduce their services here from 8 a.m. to noon.

However, electricity employees said they would serve the subway system with power so that passengers would not be inconvenienced two days in a row. Electric commuter trains also will roll.

The 24-hour walkout of rail, subway and bus employees was largely effective throughout France.

Some subway trains ran with nonstriking personnel. Rides were free—the collectors on strike.

THERE WAS ONE EMPTY SEAT—The seat of Nationalist China's delegate is empty as U.N. Security Council members vote on the seating of Outer Mongolia in the international organization. China did not participate in discussion of or voting on Mongolia. Daniel Schweitzer, left, of Chile and Leopold Benites of Ecuador indicate their votes. Nine members of the 11-member Council voted in favor. The United States abstained.

Rep. Yetter Censures State Grange Master For Policies

Pa. Grange Says Action Was Backed

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Grange on Thursday defended J. Collins McSparran, state master, against a personal attack by a Democratic state assemblyman who claimed McSparran is lobbying against the best interest of the Grange.

In a telegram sent to Rep. Van D. Yetter of East Stroudsburg, Howard Benning of Kingsley, chairman of the Grange's legislative committee, called Yetter's charges completely false.

Benning said McSparran fully supports Grange policy as established democratically at the annual conventions.

Yetter had said that McSparran's efforts in successfully defeating the land acquisition bill in the 1961 legislative session was typical of his work against farmers' interests.

Benning said the Grange passed three resolutions last year opposing the land acquisition bill.

"We are all proud of the fact that our organization was the only organization with the courage to stand up and fight the passage of this bill," Benning said. "It is obvious that our master was supported by this organization and was only carrying out the mandate passed at our session last year."

The 2,000 delegates at the 89th annual state convention authorized sending of the telegram by unanimous vote.

Rep. Van D. Yetter

Charge Of 'Distortion' Is Levelled

MONROE County Rep. Van D. Yetter Jr., of Marshall Creek yesterday repeated a charge of "gross distortion" against J. Collins McSparran and said the farmers of Pennsylvania would benefit immeasurably if the Dept. of Highways was authorized to acquire property for highway purposes prior to signing of condemnation plans by the governor.

Yetter, who is vice chairman of the House Highways Committee, reiterated his stand after the State Grange, in a telegram to Yetter, backed McSparran's stand. McSparran is state master.

McSparran, in a speech before the grange's convention, claimed credit for defeat of the highway legislation in the last session of the legislature.

Yetter's statement, issued Wednesday, follows:

"McSparran's action in opposing the land acquisition bill and his speech before the grange convention is typical of his action in Harrisburg. Instead of working for the welfare of the farmer, McSparran has set himself up as the center of all matters pertaining to agricultural legislation. His activities as a farm lobbyist is a detriment to the interests he is paid to serve."

"In all his attacks on this beneficial legislation, McSparran fails to note that the majority of farm states have land acquisition legislation similar to the measure he condemns. In fact several sections of the bill are modeled after the best features of legislation now in effect in these states, which have proved of great benefit to farmers and other land owners."

McSparran, of course, fails to mention these obvious facts, although they have been discussed in farm publications and in other state grange meetings.

"Inflammatory statements by McSparran were first heard from him in the Senate hearing on the measure. At that time he demonstrated that he refused to permit a progressive thought to enter his brain. His Senate statement was larded with clichés such as 'land communism,' 'land grab,' 'land seizure' and other similar statements. In his grange speech he amplifies these previous statements. His action in the Legislature and his continued attacks on any legislation which he does not understand is a disservice to the farmers and merits rebuke from the group which he claims to represent."

"The land acquisition legislation was conceived and introduced in the Legislature to actually benefit farmers and other land owners. Efforts were made by the farmers of the bill to sit down with McSparran to discuss the legislation before its introduction. He spurned these efforts and waited for the opportunity to spill his personal spleen in the Senate hearing."

"The bill as written would give the Dept. of Highways an opportunity to sit down and negotiate on the actual price with a land owner for the acquisition of land during the process of locating and designing a proposed highway. They do not have this opportunity now under present laws."

"It would remove the uncertainty that now exists under the Commonwealth's archaic laws for right-of-way acquisition. In other words, the new law would remove the cloud from land titles until the very minute the governor signs the law."

Kennedy Not In Political Scraps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy does not intend to get into a political scrap with Dwight D. Eisenhower in the current election campaigns. Nor does he intend to fire straightaway at Richard M. Nixon in his Los Angeles speech next month.

As leader of the party in power, Kennedy does intend to boost its candidates and programs.

Sources familiar with thinking at the White House and at Democratic headquarters so describe Kennedy's position in the light of these developments.

Fallout Levels Not Cause For Undue Public Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fallout levels from Soviet nuclear explosions thus far do not warrant undue public concern or drastic action, a U.S. Public Health Service statement said Thursday.

However, the statement added that present levels "do warrant continuous, intensive surveillance by federal, state and local governments and consideration of protective measures which might be taken if they should be found necessary."

The statement was issued as the health service began an extraordinary two-day meeting to consider what steps might be taken on all levels of government if fallout hazards become acute.

Attending the closed-door meeting were about 100 federal, state and local health officers representing every state. The health service said special problems that may develop in particular areas were receiving attention.

As the meeting convened, U.S.

Weather Bureau officials said the cloud of initial fallout radiation thrown off by the Soviet Union's superbomb blast of Monday was rolling steadily across the North Pacific.

The main part of the cloud was estimated to be about 100 miles wide and moving generally eastward at an altitude of about 30,000 feet.

"We don't know yet whether it will move north into Alaska, or straight ahead over Canada or the northern United States," said Dr. Lester Machta, a Weather Bureau fallout specialist. He said the course will depend on wind systems.

The cloud contains only a tiny part, perhaps a fraction of one per cent, of the nuclear ashes released by the explosion. Most of the radiation is much higher in the stratosphere and will not fall to earth until next spring.

Dr. Francis Weber, chief of the Radiological Health Division of the health service, told newsmen that while information still is lacking about fallout effects from Monday's big blast, any significant hazard from the Soviet test series probably would not develop until next spring.

In its public tally of the current Soviet test series, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has announced 23 nuclear explosions in the atmosphere and one under water.

The health service statement said very little is known about the effects on animals or humans of very low but prolonged exposure, such as from natural background radiation, radioactive industrial wastes, or from fallout from distant nuclear tests.

But it said: "The consensus of scientific opinion is that the most prudent course is to assume there is no level of radiation exposure below which one can be absolutely certain that harmful effects may not occur to at least a few individuals when a sufficiently large number of people are involved."

Subject To Approval:

School Directors Endorse Redistricting

HARRISBURG (AP)—Compulsory school reorganization was a major endorsement Thursday among state school directors.

The resolutions committee of the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association rejected a move to seek repeal of the compulsory reorganization law passed by the 1961 General Assembly.

The committee instead adopted a resolution simply urging the State Council of Education to administer the program "in a manner to guarantee an acceptable program of education for every public school child in the Commonwealth."

The committee's action still is subject to approval of the association's delegate assembly Saturday.

A spirited fight over the issue is expected then.

The association opened its 65th annual convention Thursday.

The recommendations of the resolutions committee were submitted at an afternoon business session, but no action was taken.

The resolutions are to be printed and distributed to the delegates Friday.

That would give opponents of mandatory reorganization almost two days to drum up sentiment among the some 1,500 school board members attending the convention to upset the resolutions committee's position.

Convention sources said, however, that they expected a majority of the delegates to support the resolutions committee.

While endorsing the legislature's action on reorganization, the committee at the same time proposed a resolution criticizing the legislators for failing to act in other areas of public education, particularly in the matter of providing financial support.

Other resolutions submitted to the delegates for action Saturday proposed to:

- Urge the legislature to set uniform real estate assessments in each county, with a base of 60 per cent of market value, (present assessments average around 40 per cent over the state).
- Oppose abolition or restriction of occupation taxes.
- Extend subsidized school transportation to all school districts, (Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and other large cities now are excluded).
- Ask the legislature to expand the 14 state-owned colleges, to provide for off-campus centers (such as operated by Pennsylvania State University), to authorize communities to set up junior colleges.
- Endorse pay raises and merit pay for teachers.

Soviet Armored Unit Moves To Berlin Line

BERLIN (AP) — A Soviet armored unit rolled into East Berlin Thursday night and took up positions a few hundred yards from the border.

Eyewitnesses saw a dozen Soviet tanks with Russian crews line up behind the East German state opera house on Unter den Linden.

It was a blunt reply to the U.S. Army's dramatic armored thrusts this week demonstrating the Allied right to circulate in East Berlin without interference from the East German Communists.

The Soviet armored unit came in only hours after the latest U.S. armed thrust into East Berlin. Three times American military police squads with fixed bayonets have forced the border into East Berlin. They cleared the way for U.S. occupation civilians who refused to submit to East German controls.

The actions were carried out under the guns of heavy U.S. Patton tanks lined up on the West side of the border.

The East German police stepped aside in each case and allowed the MPs to escort civilians past the border without resistance. Not a shot was fired. The East German government said the United States alone was responsible for the threat of war created by the escort sorties.

In a note delivered to the American Embassy in Prague, Czechoslovakia, the Red German regime contended that the United States "has no rights in the German Democratic Republic, including its capital (East Berlin)."

The note demanded that the American sorties be stopped at once and those responsible for them be punished. The United States does not recognize the East German government and always ignores such notes. Other American thrusts into East Berlin were believed planned for the next few days.

However, the presence of a Soviet tank unit a few blocks from the Friedrichstrasse crossing would put such sorties in an entirely new light.

West Berlin police said the tanks drove through the center of East Berlin under cover of darkness and that East German police closed off part of Unter den Linden as the tanks moved into position.

The Communist tanks movements followed by a few hours the withdrawal of U.S. tanks and personnel carriers from the checkpoint and a demand from the East German regime that the United States cease its armed entries.

In the note to U.S. officials the East German regime declared that such American action endangered peace.

U.N. Assembly To Discuss Plea On Superbomb Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly will consider Friday approval of an appeal to Moscow to cancel a 50-megaton H-bomb test. The appeal won overwhelming endorsement Wednesday night in the assembly's Political Committee, and ratification is regarded as certain.

Sponsors of the eight-nation resolution containing the appeal succeeded Thursday in getting the issue on the assembly agenda.

They forwarded their request for urgent action to assembly President Mongi Slim, who agreed to list it on the items of business for the session.

The assembly is expected to take up first admission of Outer Mongolia and Mauritania as the United Nations' 102nd and 103rd members, then plunge directly into consideration of the appeal.

At a private meeting Thursday the eight sponsors—Canada, Japan, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Iceland, Iran and Pakistan—laid plans to counter any delaying tactics by Soviet-bloc countries similar to those which developed in the Political Committee.

They are working against the month-end deadline mentioned by Soviet Premier Khrushchev for testing the 50-megaton bomb.

The Political Committee recommended ratification of the eight-nation resolution by a vote of 75-10 with one abstention—far more than the two-thirds majority required for assembly ratification.

Fifteen members were absent when the vote was taken and two of them—Niger and El Salvador—indicated Thursday they would vote yes in the assembly.

They spoke in the Political Committee, where general debate resumed on the nuclear test ban issue.

Debate in that committee was marked by charges from U.S. Delegate Arthur Dean that India had sought to put the Soviet Union and the United States on equal ground as far as violation of the voluntary moratorium on nuclear tests is concerned.

JFK Urges Cabinet Officials To Be 'Careful And Frugal'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy urged his Cabinet and agency heads Thursday to be "careful and frugal" in their spending so the government can reduce this year's deficit and come up with a balanced budget next year.

Ticking off steps he said his administration already has taken to save money, Kennedy added that appropriations by Congress

"are a ceiling, not a mandate to spend."

He laid down specific guidelines to be followed to save dollars: Postpone or limit government programs that normally would be desirable; halt any speedup in spending which had been undertaken to combat the recession; and hold down the number of government workers

"to the minimum consistent with getting the job done."

"I am especially desirous that new programs or expansions of existing programs be undertaken with caution and deliberation," Kennedy said.

The President enunciated this tight fiscal policy in a statement he presented at a White House meeting of the Cabinet and heads of 13 agencies. The text was made public while the session was in progress.

The statement did not make it clear whether Kennedy meant to cut down the payroll by laying off federal workers. But Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the administration's policy has been to make reductions when it is determined that fewer employees can handle the work of an agency or department.

"There is no question," Kennedy said, "that employment can be held substantially below the levels which would be possible under the funds authorized by Congress. I expect each of you to make such efforts."

During the year that ended last June 30, there was an average of 2,372,455 civilian employees on the government's $13.7-billion payroll.

As he has before, Kennedy said: "It is my intention to propose a balanced budget" for the fiscal year that starts next July 1, "barring extraordinary and unforeseen defense requirements."

As for the current fiscal year, Kennedy said the deficit will reflect the 1960-61 recession, but still will be "much smaller" than the $12-billion deficit of the year that ended June 30, 1959, during the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

"Had there been no recession in 1960-61," Kennedy said, "the budget would today be in surplus even with all the additional expenditures for defense and other purposes."

The government's midyear review, including latest estimates of revenue and spending, will be made public this weekend.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said last week the deficit will exceed $6.75 billion. Budget experts have been making minor changes this week, boosting it closer to $7 billion. Last year, the deficit was $3.9 billion.

President Diem Warns Viet Nam On Lagging In Conflict

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The people of South Viet Nam were told by their president they have been lagging in the war against Communist rebels.

President Ngo Dinh Diem warned the nation Thursday "We have not fulfilled entirely our duties" in the fight. In a special message marking the nation's sixth anniversary as a republic, Diem called for sacrifice.

Gursel New President Of Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Gen. Cemal Gursel, whose forces overthrew Turkey's last civilian government, was elected president Thursday at the Army's behest. The Army stepped in after squabbling politicians failed to agree on a chief of state. Gursel resigned from the Army to take the post.

Gursel, 67, was sworn in immediately after Parliament voted him in. He got 434 votes of 607 possible. Of the other ballots, 156 were blank, 4 invalid and 13 for three unannounced candidates. The presidential term runs seven years.

Gursel names a premier Friday. Because the Oct. 15 election left no party with enough strength to form a majority government, Gursel may name an independent to head an emergency coalition of all four parties.

Deadline For New Chrysler Offer This Morning At 10

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther has given the Chrysler Corp. until 10 a.m. Friday to submit to the United Auto Workers Union a new economic offer on wages and benefits.

"It has to meet the pattern of the Ford and General Motors settlements," the UAW president declared Thursday.

In making this announcement, during a recess in contract negotiations, Reuther made no mention of strike action.

But the union previously set what amounts to a deadline in showdown bargaining with Chrysler by calling a meeting of its International Executive Board for 8 p.m. Friday. The board will consider authorizing a strike against Chrysler if complete agreement on a new three-year contract is not in sight then.

In the UAW's 60,000 members in Chrysler plants already have voted in favor of strike action if necessary to back up their demands.

Reuther said he was insisting on an agreement in principle on the broad economics of wages and benefits by Friday.

Commenting on the union demand, Chrysler's vice president for personnel, John D. Leary, said, "We told the union we would take it under advisement."

Reuther said the union would have a technical staff standing by to help speed a final settlement when the company comes up with a new economic offer.

Reuther said there were still some noneconomic problems related to working conditions that remain to be settled. He said the union had subcommittees working on them.

In September, General Motors set the pattern for the Big Three by agreeing on a wage and extra benefits package which the union estimated would increase the take-home pay of its members by more than 12 cents an hour each year.

Ford agreed earlier this month to match the GM settlement and added what the union called frosting by making slight improvements in layoff pay benefits and pensions.

United Vets Seek Business' Aid

THE UNITED Veterans' of Monroe County have voted to delegate full authority to Howard Dill, Veterans' director in Monroe County, to seek the assistance and cooperation of all businesses in the area for veterans to attend military funerals.

He was directed to send a letter to the industries in the area asking that members of the various veterans' organizations in the county be granted time off to participate in military funerals.

This was granted by several industries some years ago when there were a large number of bodies coming into the county for re-burial and ceremonies at the graveside, as well as at the viewing.

The group, at a recent meeting, discussed many facets of organization. Some of the subjects discussed were public relations and activities.

To Draw Up Regulations

This being the second meeting of the new organization, a committee was suggested to draw up a set of rules governing the body and to have them submitted by the next meeting.

Participating in the meeting were representatives from George N. Kemp Post 346, American Legion, East Stroudsburg; Thomas P. Lambert Post 2540, VFW, Stroudsburg; West End Memorial Post, American Legion, Brodheadville; Society of the 18th Division, Stroudsburg; Evans-Blitz Post, American Legion, Barrett, American Legion Post, Pocono Lake; Veterans of World War I, Stroudsburg; Military Order of Cooties, Stroudsburg, and 40 of 8, East Stroudsburg, participated in the meeting.

The next meeting will be held in the VFW, Stroudsburg, on Nov. 29, with the Society of the 28th Division as host.

A film on the natural gas pipe lines was shown and a meeting of the home association was held with James Fox, president, in charge.

Olker New Commander, Evans-Blitz

Other officers are John Baker, first vice commander; George Curnoles, second vice commander; Henry W. Weidaw, adjutant; Ben J. Varvel, finance officer, and Jules Muraro and Warren K. Handy, sergeants-at-arms.

Notstein Installs

James B. Notstein, Leighton, commander of the Legion's 30th Pennsylvania District, was installing officer, assisted by Andrew Runowicz, Pocono Pines, district deputy commander, and Oliver Nansteel, Pocono Pines, district sergeant-at-arms.

A film on the natural gas pipe lines was shown and a meeting of the home association was held with James Fox, president, in charge.

Chamber Dinner Nov. 4

THE ANNUAL dinner of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce will be held Saturday, Nov. 4, at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, with a reception at 6 p. m. and dinner at 7 o'clock.

Louis G. Feldmann, Hazleton attorney and former national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the principal speaker.

Tickets are available from chamber members or may be purchased at the Penn-Stroud the night of the dinner.

3 Challenges To Conservation

BLOOMSBURG, Pa. (AP)—William Hennings, state secretary of agriculture, said Thursday there are three challenges to soil conservation: "money, politics and urbanization."

Hennings spoke at the 14th annual conference of County Soil Conservation District Directors. Fifty five of the state's county were represented. The two-day meeting winds up Friday.

Soil conservationists should show those living in urban areas how the conservation program affects their lives as well as those in rural areas, Hennings said.

Train Traffic Hit By Strike

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Train traffic was paralyzed throughout Argentina Thursday as the two main rail workers unions struck for more pay.

Other means of transport were pressed into service to help solve the commuting problem.

The government has stated it will not grant any raises unless the deficit in the state-owned railways is wiped out by economy measures, including dismissal of 75,000 rail employees.

Rata-Tat Noise Stopper Sought

Expansion Of State Colleges Aim To End Teacher Shortage

(Editors note: The end of the critical shortage of teachers help declare the way for liberalization of the state-owned colleges, this and other ramifications of the change are discussed in the concluding part of a two-part series.)

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Behind the decision to transform the 14 state-owned colleges into liberal arts institutions lies a startling fact: the virtual end of the critical shortage of teachers.

Without this development it is unlikely that state officials would have given serious thought to opening the doors of the state colleges to the liberal arts as well as the teacher-student.

It was only a few years ago that high state officials were viewing unfavorably efforts to make this change in the state colleges' role.

But the gap between supply and demand has widened steadily for the past few years. However there are some areas of shortages, such as librarians, physical science teachers and girls' physical education instructors.

Gov. Lawrence's committee on education estimated that the colleges and universities in Pennsylvania must expect enrollments to double in this decade.

In Best Position

It was the committee's conclusion that the state colleges were in the best position for major expansion to pick up a large share of this added enrollment.

There already was a major building program underway at the 14 institutions. Plans now have been drafted, or they are in the process of being revised to adopt the physical transformation of the campuses to the proposed change to general education.

The 1961 legislature authorized a $39.6 million building program on top of the $45 million approved by the 1959 session.

A good share of the money is for new dormitories, but there also will be such major additions as libraries, and classroom buildings.

The governor's committee also recommended that the state's expenditures at the 14 state colleges and the Pennsylvania state university (which is not state-owned but under quasi state control) be stepped up by about $67.2 million a year by 1970.

If projections of future demands for college facilities are accurate, the state's spending in that area of public education certainly will be under great pressure to expand.

Not all educators agree that enrollments will jump as the governor's committee estimate.

They point out that this fall, preliminary figures indicate a very slight increase in enrollments, and final figures may actually show a drop from 1960.

The reasons for this slackening are at present only conjecture, but state officials consider it only a temporary phenomenon.

Non public-owned institutions would like to see the state devote its attention to their financial needs.

If the state colleges do go into general education on a large scale, it may accelerate the problems of some of the small liberal arts institutions with which they will compete.

Jeopardize Existence

Rising costs, driving charges to students upward, already have jeopardized the continued existence of those private schools that have neither the financial resources nor the intellectual prestige to continue to attract students.

If the state colleges enter the competition with a relatively low-cost education, it is expected that some of these private institutions will either pass out of existence or come under state control.

One final aspect of this new era for the state colleges also should be considered; its potential impact on the areas in which the institutions are located.

The millions of dollars in payrolls for the new building projects will represent a healthy economic shot in the arm to various communities.

Some of them need it.

The problem for the planners in these communities where colleges are expanding rapidly is to assimilate this into the orderly development of their communities.

Temperance Aide To Speak At Local Adventist Church

ELDER Dalton D. Baldwin, director of the Temperance Department of the East Pennsylvania Conference of Seventh-day Adventists, will be the guest preacher at the local Adventist Church Saturday at 9:30 a. m.

He will come here from Reading headquarters where he directs the temperance work of the 63 churches in the conference.

Baldwin is a native of California and a graduate of Pacific Union College, Angwin, Calif. He holds Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts and Bachelor of Divinity degrees.

He was appointed to the temperance post in 1958.

Adventists the world round will renew their historical position of total abstinence from alcohol and tobacco as a denomination and will take special offerings to foster temperance work from the local to the international levels.

Thomas Miller, local temperance leader said, "part of the church's program to promote better living habits without the use of alcohol and tobacco is an open invitation to all community residents to sign the pledge and join the American Temperance Society."

Sabbath Services At Temple

TONIGHT at 8 Sabbath services will be held at Temple Israel. Rabbi Bernhard Presler will conduct the services in which the Temple will honor the birthday children of this month.

The topic of the sermon is "Faith in God." At the conclusion of the services a reception will be held in the vestry room in honor of the children.

Saturday services will be conducted at 7:30 a. m. On Friday, Nov. 3, a special late service will be conducted by Rabbi Presler at 9 p. m. This will take place of the 8:00 p. m. service.

Bethlehem Steel High On Future

NEW YORK (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's No. 2 steelmaker, Thursday reported improved July-September earnings and forecast continued better times ahead.

The firm cleared $33,943,023, making enough to cover its regular quarterly common stock dividend of 60 cents a share for the first time since the spring of 1960.

During the four intervening quarters Bethlehem maintained its dividend unchanged despite an earnings rate that fell to 14 cents a share in the January-March period.

For the quarter ended Sept. 30, profits amounted to 71 cents a share. In the like 1960 period, earnings were $12,436,106, or 24 cents a share.

Still, Arthur B. Homer, corporation chairman, called the results a "little disappointing" and put most of the blame on strikes in the auto industry, which consumes about 20 per cent of national steel production.

"We ought to have a slightly better fourth quarter, based on rate of operations, and things ought to be a little better yet in the first quarter of 1962," Homer told newsmen.

Newton F. Fulbright, New York Herald Tribune columnist, was the principal speaker. Rev. Harry Quinn, former chaplain of the 143d Infantry, was in charge of the memorial service.

Glen Alden Set To Pump Water

HARRISBURG (AP) — Glen Alden Corp. was authorized Thursday to resume limited pumping of mine water into the Susquehanna River to avert possible flooding of active coal mines in the Wilkes-Barre area.

The state Sanitary Water Board, which officially blamed Glen Alden for an extensive fish kill earlier this month, ruled the company may pump 618,000 gallons daily so long as the mine water is reasonably free of harmful chemicals.

Walter F. Lyon, chief sanitary engineer of the Health Department, said the temporary order would give the company time to "come up with a better solution."

Company officials, who helped work out the agreement, said the water level in an underground pool at Ashley is near the critical stage of 280 feet.

If it rose much above that level the water could flood active workings and throw 1,080 men out of work, they added.

Pumping under the plan will not stop the rise of the pool, estimated Wednesday to be 274.3 feet and rising about 7 inches daily, but Lyon said it would slow down the rate of rise.

Safety Afield

Tomorrow morning at eight o'clock all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hunters will take to the field and woods for the beginning of the small game season. On the first day the woods will be full of them.

Pennsylvania is blessed with a veritable paradise as far as game of all sorts is concerned, and each year the Game Commission, according to their releases, add to its wildlife population by releasing game all over the state. More land for public use is also being acquired by the Commonwealth.

Unfortunately, too, the number of hunting accidents in the field is high each year. Despite the many warnings given out about the proper use of firearms, and despite laws passed making certain precautions compulsory, there are casualties every year, even some fatalities.

Hunting safety, after all, is nothing more than a combination of common courtesy and horse sense. Before a would-be hunter places a gun in his hands, he should know its potentials and should be familiar with its use. Then he should memorize and use all of the safety precautions that go with it. He should realize that even though he is hunting small game with a small-bore rifle, he has in his hands an instrument that can deal death to a human being.

Despite all the warnings, however, the next day's papers will carry the stories that are so familiar, and all the result of carelessness and non-thinking. The pattern is always the same.

Tomorrow, if you take to the field for the first day, be especially careful of your own gun—and the other fellow's. Follow the rules of sportsmen yourself, and make certain that your companions do too. There's no reason to repeat the rules. You should know them before you go out. Then, abide by them!

Opinions Of Other Editors

OECD And Western Strength

Day-to-day tensions between Western allies should not be permitted to obscure the fundamental and growing strength of the free world.

Western solidarity is more deeply based than the many short-term crises that have frayed allied tempers would indicate. The latest evidence of this fundamental unity is the new Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development. This treaty provides the formal machinery that can weld the free world's great industrial and economic powers into a co-ordinated whole.

In a very real sense, OECD picks up where the North Atlantic Treaty Organization left off. It embraces, in addition to the NATO countries, Austria, Ireland, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland. Thus it brings into co-ordination all the free world's economies in much the same way that NATO combines their military strengths.

Never before in the history of mankind has such an aggregate of military and economic might been amassed in the effort to preserve world peace and better the lot of all mankind.

Clearly the merely material strength of the combined OECD and NATO countries far outweighs that of the Communist world. But it should be equally clear now that the real strength of this historic grouping lies not alone in armaments and industry.

Only as the free nations of the world recognize their progressive role in spreading the dynamics of a free society can the promise implicit in OECD be realized. Their determination to subordinate shortsighted nationalism to a broader goal will be the decisive factor. Herein lies the real test of Western strength.

Definitions

The logical mind cannot use words without definitions. Most of the confusions of our time are due to the lack of definition of terms; thus we generally confuse socialism and communism, a free society and a democracy. One might say that it makes little difference because most people have an intuitive concept of what is meant.

Admiral Rickover is gifted with a logical mind which compels him to define his terms, so that when he refers to a subject, he and his hearer will know precisely what is meant and the argument, if any, need not be over words.

We speak of a free society by which we might mean anything from such an anarchistic society, as Emma Goldman advocated, to the government-dominated society which Franklin D. Roosevelt actually established in this country.

Admiral Rickover defines a free society in precise terms: "By 'free' I mean a politically free society in which the individual possesses 'inalienable rights,' and government is instituted 'to secure these rights.' We hold it to be 'self-evident' truth that liberty is an indispensable attribute of the individual. Not absolute liberty, of course, for this is not possible unless one dwells on an uninhabited island, but the broadest liberty compatible with life in society."

It is interesting that Admiral Rickover bases his terminology on the Declaration of Independence which our youngsters are no longer told to memorize, as no generation did. The Declaration is the basic philosophic statement of American society. These days there is a tendency to refer to the so-called Bill of Rights, that is, the first 10 amendments to the Constitution, as the whole of American political doctrine.

By no stretch of the imagination can this be so. The first 10 amendments are, it is true, a restriction upon government, but their main function is to implement the Declaration of Independence which holds certain truths to be self-evident. Among certain truths is government by choice which was increasing during the 19th Century and has been decreasing during the 20th Century. Since the American Revolution, country after country sought to limit the rights of the people, to destroy every trace of autocracy. Since the Russian Revolution, political development has been in the opposite direction.

More and more countries have been taken over in one form or another of tutelage, either by a dictatorship or by a single person, or the dictatorship of an oligarchy of a dominant political party. This trend has been justified by Karl Marx's dictatorship of the proletariat. Thus the "unfree" society has come into existence. Admiral Rickover defines the unfree society as follows:

"I use the contrasting term 'unfree' to designate any society where the people do not have effective control over their government. A great variety of political systems fall into this broad category. They range from authoritarian countries where the ruler respects the law and does not meddle with the private lives of the people except to demand political obedience, to modern totalitarian countries where rulers acknowledge no law superior to their own will and desire, where government maintains reinforced by all pervasive propaganda, where the individual is permitted no shred of private life in which to decide matters of a personal nature."

From the standpoint of this definition, it is impossible to make a moral distinction between Hitler and Stalin, Batista and Castro. Those in our State Department, who can discover a difference between Trujillo of the Dominican Republic and Castro of Cuba, it cannot define its terms.

If one was wicked, so was the other. If one left the people no choice, so does the other. Roosevelt's initial error was that he assumed that he could distinguish between a good dictator and a bad one. Admiral Rickover distinguishes between a free and an unfree society.

The Great Fish Kill Now Being Studied

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — Reporter's Notebook:
Fish 'N' Chips — Last week there was quite a pothole along the banks of the Susquehanna River between Sunbury and Wilkes-Barre as thousands of fish suddenly turned belly-side up and expired. . . . Naturally there was quite a "smell" about the whole thing — both dead fish-wise and insofar as industry and state government departments were concerned.

The "odor" now has settled around Capitol Hill where the big question is whether there shall be dead fish or dead jobs along the normally placid waters of the Susquehanna. . . . The issue: a coal company in the Wilkes-Barre area installed and had been using pumps spewing out water at a rate of 17 million gallons a day — pumping acid mine water into the river and killing the fish.

The State Department of Health has charge of administering the State's Clean Streams law designed to prevent such pollution — and has ordered the mine to cease pumping operation.

"I intend to give long and close study to the aims and duties of the council before designating those I will ask to serve" . . . The text newsmen received however had the words "intend to give" crossed out with "have given" written in above, so that the sentence finally read: "I have given long and close study . . . etc."

The write-in change was understandable — for a short time later the same day newsmen received another handout, the first sentence of which said: "Governor David L. Lawrence today announced selection of the Advisory Council on Library Development in Pennsylvania."

That's really a fast study!

Cause For Concern — Things apparently are slipping in the Keystone State in more ways than one. . . . A report on births and deaths in Pennsylvania during the past year — in comparison with 1959 — shows a few startling facts.

For example illegitimate births in the Keystone State went on the increase in 1960 — not much — but nevertheless climbed from 10,490 in 1959 to 10,507 last year. . . . Perhaps equally amazing and startling: the percent of illegitimate births — in relation to total live births in the state — climbed from 4.3 percent in 1959 to 4.4 percent in 1960. . . . On the other hand, legitimate births dropped from 236,125 to 230,592 in 1960!

The Morbid Side — Any idea how many Pennsylvanians committed suicide last year? . . . Again the statistics of the State Department of Health have the answer, and it is — 1099, which somehow seems like a startling statistic. . . . Reduced to a rate basis, which is perhaps more emphatic, the suicide rate in Pennsylvania last year was 9.7 per 100,000 population. . . . Which county had the highest number? . . . Philadelphia with 188.

Mrs. Alicia Wiercraft was elected president of the Monroe County Marine Corps League Auxiliary. The organization had just been formed after a vote of approval by the local detachment.

Rocky Marciano put an end to Joe Louis' hope for comeback with a TKO in the eighth round of their fight at the Yankee Stadium.

1st Lt. Sidney Cohen, a dentist in the 13th Artillery, was in Stroudsburg on a two week leave from the Army.

How many remember in 1936 when the sudden cold wave froze some ponds in the mountain area of the county? The temperature had dropped to 22 degrees.

Scrap iron was being bought at 90 cents for 100 pounds.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

Sitting back the other day we scanned the headlines of about 20 newspapers. What we saw was trouble in Berlin, a leaderless United Nations, murder, rape, child beatings, sickening blarney about movie stars, and corrupt politicians, bank officials and executives. In short mayhem had been strung across the front pages of our daily news mediums.

There was nothing constructive. Nary a writup concerned itself with any good deed, such as the decline of crime, less money snatched from a treasury or a film idol living the clean life he or she was destined for.

No wonder some of us have reached the stomach-turning point. Everything today, it seems, is so rotten it stinks.

We're ready for some sort of a new approach to life. The often repeated philosophy that we have reached the point of no return is hogwash. This America, on a local level, state scene, and federal shelf is ripe for a fresh breeze of honesty, idealism and integrity.

First though there has to be an audit of all the wheels that make up everyday living. For example, if the distribution of relief funds is producing sloth and irresponsibility let's correct the problem.

Or, if a book is written by one of the "know" authors but contains filth and dirt, let's have the guts to bypass it.

Or, if plays can't get along without a stag party theme, let's get along without them.

Or, if movie, television or stage stars are gifted with only barmy morals, let's counterattack and take away the bread (cash) that feeds them.

A colleague of ours once remarked "Let's cover up the cesspool and start planting flowers." He has a good point and with all of the fine individuals available for scrub duty it shouldn't take long to clean up a fair share of the mess which has tentacles piercing every part of today's society.

Take a look around us. Nations that we have been feeding dollars by the millions into Shantung province with insecticides from a light plane, fled to South Korea. Last week in Seoul they told reporters that food for the average Chinese peasant is "indiscreetly miserable." Even in once fertile Shantung, so many are dying of starvation that they are buried in mass graves.

Communism always gives the people more to swallow than eat.

Marlene Dietrich's educational offering: "Today's fad requires large, soft, hanging bosoms that can be easily displaced. Beautiful bosoms cannot be pushed together. There is stubbornness in their firmness."

Marilyn Monroe! Stop that giggling.

From the new book "The New Germany and the Old Nazis," "Nazis have returned to power in almost every area of German life." The author adds many occurrences of anti-Semitism and "the shameful record of Hitler's judges who still sit on the bench."

We have too much to fear and doubt. We're always in a hurry. What we should worry most about is just because we worry.

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington—The monster "K" bomb set off by Russia this week is by far the dirtiest nuclear device ever exploded by man.

Air Force air samplings show that the 30-to-40 megaton weapon has polluted the atmosphere with more than 2,000 pounds of radioactive materials.

This tremendous fallout is one-fourth of the amount of fission products released by the other 313 nuclear devices of all types exploded since 1945 by the U.S., Russia, Britain, and France.

Also, the explosion released a record amount of deadly strontium-90 and cesium-137, the two most insidious products of the bomb. These chemicals, which enter the body through the food cycle, are known to cause cancer and play a role in causing defective babies.

The "dirtiness" of the "K" bomb is due to the way it was put together and the materials that made up its three layers of stages.

According to a preliminary study, made by a joint Air Force-Atomic Energy Commission evaluation committee, the superbomb contained a trigger made up of U-235, enriched uranium. The trigger was wrapped with two "jackets" or "liners" containing large amounts of lithium (the lightest metal, deuterium double-weight hydrogen) and ordinary uranium (U-238).

Already, radioactive lithium has shown up in alarming amounts over U.S. military bases in northern Japan from this and other tests.

This radioactive fallout is one of the main consequences of the way the Soviet bombs are designed and the location, Novaya Zemlya in the Arctic, where most of the nuclear devices are being exploded.

As reported in this column on October 20, the current Soviet tests are the "dirtiest" ever conducted by either the U.S. or Russia. All have emitted a high count of radioactive fallout that is now appearing almost everywhere in the Northern Hemisphere.

The evaluation also concludes that Soviets have rockets capable of carrying 100-megaton nuclear warheads several thousand miles or to the moon.

Note: The biggest hydrogen bomb now in the U.S. stockpile is in the 25-megaton field. This bomb has the equivalent explosive force of 25 million tons of TNT.

Hot Line—Paul Nitze, Assistant Secretary of Defense for international affairs, is quietly circulating a disarmament study proposing that a private trans-Atlantic line be set up between the White House and the Kremlin.

Purpose of this "hot line" would be to increase communications between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev so they could avoid accidental nuclear war.

Entitled "U.S. Unilateral Arms Control Measures," the study was prepared for Nitze by the Stanford Research Institute, Menlo Park, California. It proposes immediate communication between heads of government, stating:

"Another arms control measure would be the provision of a full period private line service between heads of government. This measure would not only be taken in recognition of the current trend toward increased personal contact between heads of government, but also in recognition of the possibility of accidental nuclear war."

The study admits that it would be up to Khrushchev to make it work, stating: "The usefulness of such a communication link would depend largely upon Soviet acceptance in order for the system to be effective."

"While some escalation is probably inevitable once an actual 'shooting war' begins, it is still possible that the process of escalation can be controlled."

"Steps to limit this danger are often presented in terms of agreements, tacit or formal between ourselves and our potential adversaries. However, to achieve this understanding some method of communicating with the enemy is likely to be necessary."

Military Opposed — The disarmament study, which is being roundly denounced in top military circles in the Air Force, Army, and Navy, suggests that the U.S. might want to offer not to proceed with the Samos, the spy-in-the-sky satellite, in exchange for Soviet disarmament concessions.

"An offer not to proceed with Samos could have a striking effect on bargaining, in that the Samos system, if effective, strikes directly at Soviet secrecy," the study states. "Thus, even before that system is demonstrated to be effective, it may provide bargaining potential in Russia . . ."

Commong Events—The U.S. plans to propose to the U.S. General Assembly that it adopt a compulsory payment system for members. Under the plan approved by the White House member nations refreshing to pay their share of the regular United Nations budget would lose their vote until the debt is met. The proposal is aimed at Soviet bloc nations that have lagged behind in their U.N. payments. . . . U.S. military intelligence is warning that Prime Minister Nehru is seriously considering using military force to try to liberate Goa from Portugal. . . . The State Department is privately reporting to the White House that a major move will be made next month to try to bring Janio Quadros back as President of Brazil.

Inside You And Yours

The Wandering Month

By Dr. Fern
I'm Always regular — why was I two weeks late last month and eight days early now?

Menstrual cycles less regular than you think. Chart your own; you'll see!

Monthly regularity is delicately balanced by four different glands — the adrenal, thyroid, pituitary and ovary. A sluggish thyroid or adrenal can slow or stop menstruation.

Each month, a growing cell inside the ovary manufactures female hormones. When it leaves the ovary after two weeks, other cells produce another hormone — progesterone. As hormone production stops, menstrual flow begins.

Without egg cells to guide these changes, cycles range all over the calendar. No wonder those first and last years are so irregular!

Surgeon Takes Over
Hormones from egg cells trapped inside ovaries turn the calendar into one long cycle. Menstrual regularity returns when the surgeon cuts out these trapped cells.

Any illness from a sore throat to inflamed tubes, can change your rhythm. Thin, anemic blood stops menstrual flow because the body needs every last corpuscle. Curing these ailments cures irregularity!

Automatic nerves control most glands. And so nervous upsets, fatigue from sudden exercise, addiction and changing climates all trigger temporary irregularity. An overwhelming desire or dread of pregnancy can postpone menstrual flow for many months.

A regular routine — regular diet, habits, regular exercise — helps prevent irregularity. Sudden changes and nervous tension rarely affect more than one or two cycles.

Pills Help
Your doctor may prescribe new progesterone like pills. Ten daily doses during the second half of the cycle should trigger menstrual flow on schedule. After a few months, regularity becomes a habit — even without pills.

Follow your doctor's instructions carefully. Progesterone's influence too early in the month keeps egg cells from growing.

In spite of all modern treatment, a growing cause of irregularity still lasts for months — until each new citizen makes his hounding debut!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Chips On A Shoulder

The Associated Press reported: "American delegates to the 22nd Congress of the Soviet Communist Party in Moscow have given the Russians via television an unflattering account of life in the U. S. Among the American delegates who participated in the program was Henry Winston."

Henry Winston won commutation of a prison sentence from President Kennedy last June. Because of threatened blindness and ill health. He had served five years of an eight year term for conspiracy to teach and advocate overthrow of the Government of the United States and for contempt in jumping bail. Such is ingratitude. Show a Red your heart and he makes it his target.

From a New York tv critic: "In the majority of instances television is judged fundamentally by a standard that is notably undemanding. What is more entertaining at home than television?"

Bank Faces Tomorrow's Challenges

By TONY CESARE
Daily Record Reporter

TOMORROW the county's needs will be strikingly greater than today or at anytime in the past. But the challenge does not phase the personnel and governing body of the East Stroudsburg National Bank.

As it has met the needs and requirements of its customers, the community and the county in previous years, the bank is governed by men with years of experience who can also meet the future with confidence.

This is especially true when it is realized that the business is ruled by a board that has remained relatively intact through time.

Down through the years, three men have compiled a record of 107 years on the ruling body.

They have kept pace with the complexing problems of each era — bank holiday, depression, wars, cold wars and times of peace. In some instances, they have remained ahead of the issues.

This superlative effort is only topped by the service of three officers who have accumulated a total of 111 years.

All in all, it adds up to a total of 218 years of service and public duty with an institution that, in itself, is only 72 years old.

Tops List

Topping the list who direct the bank in its business is Fred A. Wyckoff of 65 Lacakawanna Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Wyckoff, who witnessed a period when there was no bank transactions anywhere in the country in 1933, has served on the board of directors for 40 years.

Close behind are William M. Seguin of Kenville, N.J., with 37 years and board president Dr. T. J. Breitwieser with a record of 30 years.

Dr. Breitwieser assumed the presidency in 1941. He resides at 80 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg.

Seguin became a director in 1924, replacing O. E. Shaller, a former resident of South Stroudsburg.

What's the consensus of these banking men today?

"Nothing but change and there will be more changes in the world of banking," they pointed out.

Regulations and more regulations have kept the trio and the board members busily abreast of the times.

But if there are changes in the banking systems, it is not noticeable in the board's personnel. Only few changes occur here. The last was in 1959 when J. L. Cohen, a Stroudsburg Certified Public Accountant, joined the group.

Wyckoff said the bank holiday in 1933 was one of the times he remembers quite well.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt at that time closed all the banks in the country. It was a move to determine which banks were solvent. Those that were were reopened. The others faded out.

Can Live Without

"It just goes to show that people can live without banks," he said.

But, Wyckoff continued, "it will be mighty inconvenient. But it can be done."

Dr. Breitwieser pointed out that one of the biggest transactions in the banking world "is installment buying."

"This has been one of the biggest items in the last number of years," he said.

In the front offices of the newly renovated, modern building, executive vice president and cashier Claude Cramer ranks tops in period of service. He is also a director.

41 Years

Cramer has compiled 41 successful years with the bank since the days of messenger boy in 1920. He was graduated from East Stroudsburg High in June, 1920 and began his work in July. Through the decades, Cramer has been employed as a bookkeeper, teller and in the note department. A resident of Green St., East Stroudsburg, he was appointed to his present post six months ago.

111 YEARS OF SERVICE—Three officers of the East Stroudsburg National Bank have compiled a record of 111 years of service. They are: C. Clifford Lambert (35 years), Claude Cramer (41 years) and Mrs. Velma Lanterman (35 years). All hold the position of assistant cashier while Cramer is also executive vice president. Mrs. Lanterman is the only lady officer in Monroe County banks. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Two others have served 35 years each. They are C. Clifford Lambert and Mrs. Velma Lanterman. Both are assistant cashiers and both reside in East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Lanterman also holds the distinguished honor of being the only lady officer in the banking business in Monroe County.

Like Cramer, both have climbed the ladder from one post to another to their new positions. Because of the expansion of business and new details, the bank has opened a new position.

Care For Everyone

Cramer said the bank's policy is to care for everyone.

"The bank gets down to the average man, down to the individual," he said, meaning that all people play a vital part in its business.

What he did not say though, although it was mutually understood, was that the bank's service is not only the policy but is also the mode at ESNB.

Barth Elected To Board Of Directors Of MECO

E. L. Barth, secretary-treasurer of Metropolitan Edison Company, has been elected to the board of directors of MECO. Announcement of his appointment was made by W. R. Snyder, president.

At the same time, Snyder said, W. G. Kuhns, vice president of General Public Utilities Corporation, was also elected to the MECO board. The new directors are replacing H. S. Busch and E. W. Morehouse, who retired recently as vice presidents of GPU and as MECO directors.

Next May, Barth will mark 50 years of service with MECO and its associated and affiliated companies, making him the company's senior employee in point of service. He has been secretary-treasurer of MECO since 1946.

Barth, who resides in Mount Penn, near Reading, has been active in a number of civic organizations.

Kuhns, a native of Milwaukee and a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, worked for Wisconsin Electric Power Company prior to joining the GPU staff in New York in July, 1955.

Ferry Firm To Shut Down

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Because of rising costs and reduced business the Delaware River Ferry Co. will shut down permanently Dec. 1, the firm announced yesterday.

The company operates four ferries between Chester and Bridgeport, N. J., across the Delaware River.

Competing bridges, the Walt Whitman to the north and the Delaware Memorial to the south, made necessary the decision to end the ferry business started 31 years ago, firm president Louis Kapelski said.

Kapelski said the firm has been losing money since 1957, when the Walt Whitman in south Philadelphia was opened.

The ferry is the only link between Pennsylvania and New Jersey for a 30-mile stretch between the two big bridges.

Lee Marvin stars on "The Twilight Zone" at 10 p. m. on Chs. 2 and 10, drama of a gunman for hire who returns to a small Western town and discovers that the outlaw he has been hunting has been shot and killed, but before his death the bandit swore that if the gunman ever approached his grave, he would reach up and grab him. . . . Gene Rowlands and Robert Loggia guest star on "Target: The Corruptors" at 10 p. m. on Chs. 6 and 7, when a physician calls Paul Marino's attention to an infant drug addict, the child having inherited the habit during the prenatal period from his mother, and Paul helps both her and her child to break their addiction and also persuades the woman to help him get facts on an unknown narcotics tycoon.

Home Mistaken For A Hotel

LANFORD, Scotland (AP)—Donald Munro complains that a big house he built in the Highlands is constantly being mistaken for a hotel by U.S. and European tourists. Munro said he recently found one tourist washing up in his bathroom and another sitting in his favorite fire-side chair.

Adult Class Hears From Alaskan Boy

NEWFOUNDLAND — A letter from John George, the eight-year-old Alaskan orphan boy who is supported by the Adult Bible Class of the Moravian Church, was read during the meeting of the group at the church at which Mrs. Emil Wohlfart presided.

In charge of the program and refreshments were Martha Smith, Ruth and Carroll Fetherman, Kathryn Krautter, Gertrude Pellet, Sybil Anness, Nina Hoppa, Charles Scheibert, Carrie and Vernon Carey.

The Rev. Larry Lindenmuth led the study of the Litany. There was a discussion of the preparation of shut-in baskets and Ruth Fetherman, Minnie Robacker, Martha Smith and Ruth Ehrhardt were appointed to the committee.

An invitation from Mrs. Lindenmuth to hold the December 19 Christmas party at the parsonage was accepted with thanks.

Ruled Noncriminal

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—A coroner's jury yesterday ruled the fatal shooting of Robert L. Gardner, 29, York Springs, R. D. 2, was "non-criminal homicide," thereby absolving Robert A. Kogler, 32, Gardner, of all blame.

Brownies Advanced To Scouts

NEWFOUNDLAND—The fly-ups flew up during the meeting of Brownie Troop Two this week at Southern Wayne Joint School, going through the ceremony which changes them from Brownies to Girl Scouts.

Ruth Ann Schoenagel, Sharon Haag and Nancy Haldaman were present for the ceremony.

Kathy Smith and Joan Webster were not on hand and will receive their pins at a later date. The troop made enthusiastic plans for the October 30 Halloween party at 3:45 p. m. at the school. The fly-ups were invited to attend. All will wear costumes.

This week the girls opened their meeting with a game, "Accidents and Cures." Linda Price escorted her committee to shop for party prizes, and Mrs. Wohlfart and her bulb-planting committee planted the Brownie bulb garden which will have all golden flowers next Spring for the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Arthur Jones and Bonnie Price assisted a group in covering patrol boxes, and Kathleen Croft had charge of the Brownie bookwork.

Sweet-Tooth Bear Destroys Honey Ranch

STERLING — A bear with an overpowering desire for sweets has destroyed 280 pounds of honey, plus combs and bees and six hives at the Francis Curtis Jr., "bee-business."

The big black fellow has been spotted five times, and has devoured his sweet snacks within in 500 feet of the Curtis home each time, in spite of shots fired to frighten him.

An electric fence has put a crimp in his activities as well as his hide, however, and he has appeared only once since the fence was erected.

Cultivated Taste
Curtis, with the assistance of his son, Carroll, has been occupied with the hobby of keeping bees for the past two years. Last year's invader in the form of a bear came only twice, and his visits were more than a month apart. However, this year's specimen of wild life has a cultivated taste for sweets, and has been unusually persistent.

The size of the bear? "Well, he looked pretty good-sized, sitting there on his haunches, enjoying my honey!" said Mr. Curtis.

Dear Abby

Sack Him, Sweetie!

Dear Abby: I am 28, have been married twice and have two children. Four months ago I fell for a salesman who was married and had a family. He loved me, too, and we started to make plans. He said he was going to ask his wife for a divorce. He moved in with me and my children but, so far, he hasn't applied for a divorce. Now, I don't think he ever will. The thrill has worn off. I miss my freedom and I feel stuck with this guy. His wife found out about us, and now she won't have him back, but he has to support her and his kids anyway. He doesn't help me financially, and is preventing me from making progress with anyone else. He is a weak person, and I feel responsible for getting him into this mess, so I can't throw him out. Any suggestions?

STUCK
Dear Abby: Throw him out. If he has nowhere else to go, he'll probably go "home" and beg his wife to take him back. If you are in the market for a man—choose a single one. They make the best husbands.

Dear Abby: My sister's husband's name is Charles Vincent Smith. They named their son Charles Patrick Smith. Everyone calls the boy "Junior." I say that in order for him to be an honest-to-goodness "Junior," his name should be exactly the same as his father's—Charles Vincent Smith. My sister says I am mistaken. Am I?

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

That was no false face I was wearing to judge the Halloween party last night. That was my own face turned blue with cold. There really was the feeling of Halloween in the air with the blowing leaves giving you a sense of urgency as if you too were being pursued by phantom forces.

Among the reminders of the season was a telephone call from a very young voice asking "Do you know when we can go Halloweening?" In my day, we had tick-tack night and doorbell night and Halloween, with the first two arrived at by some mysterious whim of wind and weather and whether it was a school night.

Now things seem to be a little more organized, and the official nights for Halloween are Friday, Saturday and Monday nights, at least as far as trick-or-treats for the UN's Children's Fund is concerned. But make your little fairy queens wear their long underwear — it gets mighty cold out there, as Ruth Cron and I can testify.

Actually the task of judging is not one for which I am temperamentally well suited, since I think they're all wonderful and all should have first prize. Since obviously they can't and the only other alternative was to keep them marching around all night in the cold, we picked.

One of the main difficulties was that so many of them put themselves in the wrong category. The most original costumes were vying for the title of funniest, the funniest costumes for the title of ugliest.

"Well, that's life," Ruth Cron and I agreed between chattering teeth there's an awful lot of us in that category for which we have no particular talent. Like judging, for instance. Or philosophizing.

Mrs. Caprioli President Of Altar, Rosary

Barrett—Rev. Walsh, parish assistant, was introduced to the members of St. Ann's Altar and Rosary Society at their recent meeting.

A special Rosary was said as a "spiritual bouquet" to be sent to President Kennedy in the hope of peace.

The children's Halloween party was planned for Sunday, October 29 at the church beginning at 4 p.m.

A card party is planned for November 16 to be held at Ugocon's at 8 p.m. Marie Gillispie is in charge of arrangements for the event.

Rev. William Cusick officiated at the enthronement of the society to the Sacred Heart. Lottie Chopko, president of the Monroe-Pike Deaneary acted as witness.

New officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. Peg Caprioli will take office as president; Mrs. Marie Gillispie, vice president; Mrs. Edna Caulfield, treasurer and Mrs. Marjane Scheim, secretary.

The meeting was closed by a prayer offered by Rev. Cusick.

Marriage Licenses

Peter A. Karpovich and Meredith Barbara Monica, both of Canadensis, and Kenneth W. Kruse, St. East Stroudsburg and Dorothy Levening Senti, Stroudsburg, RD 2, have applied for marriage licenses from N. Henry Fenner, Monroe County, clerk of orphan's court.

Stuffed egg halves make a delicious appetizer. Serve them on finely shredded green cabbage mixed with French dressing. Garnish with 6 pers., pimiento and anchovy fillets.

Hadassah Honors For Mrs. Maloney

Mrs. Madalyn Maloney was presented with a plaque signifying her honorary membership in the Stroudsburg chapter of Hadassah at their meeting this week in the vestry rooms of the Temple Israel.

Mrs. David Bernbaum, president, made the presentation in recognition of Mrs. Maloney's cooperation with the organization, following a book review, "Woman of Valor" by Irving Fineman given by Mrs. Maloney. The book is a biography of Henrietta Szold, founder of Hadassah, and presented her not as a public figure but as a warm, living, young woman, loving and in love.

Mrs. Max Fleischman announced a membership Gala to be held on Nov. 28 when Mrs. Jack Ruby, a prominent Hadassah leader, will speak.

Mrs. Edgar Liebert announced that a bus has been chartered for Nov. 30 when members will go to New York for a guided tour through the United Nations building and to the Museum of Modern Art to see the windows designed by Marc Chagall for the new Hadassah Medical Center in Ein Karem, Israel.

Hostesses for the social hour which followed the meeting were Mrs. Marshall Feinhaber, Mrs. Abraham Fuchs, Mrs. Arthur Jolley and Mrs. Albert Koster.

Kasebiers Entertain For Parents

Portland — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kasebier entertained at a dinner party at their home on Division Street on Sunday in honor of the 28th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Kasebier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Altomose of Bangor. The Altomos received gifts and cards.

Those present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Petty and son Billie, Mrs. Eva Petty, Mrs. George Gullick and son George of Belvidere, N.J.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Zeman of Mount Bethel; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kasebier and sons Randy and Scott of Bangor; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Altomose and daughters, Nayden and Denise, of Ackermanville; the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Altomose of Bangor and the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kasebier and sons Robert, Milford and Ronald.

Grandson Stars In Marine Skill

Maybe many local Marines have been commended Lieutenant Generals but not at the age of six, which is what happened to Mark Moeller between the halves at the Baldwin Wallace Quantico Marines football game.

Young Mark is the son of Marine Recruiter Staff Sgt. Arthur Moeller and Mrs. Moeller, and grandson of Mrs. Agnes Moeller and Mr. and Mrs. E. Sifee, all of East Stroudsburg RD 3.

During the half-time, the 48-pound Mark demonstrated his ability to do the basic exercises in the Marine Corps physical fitness program. In military dress, he walked to the center of the football field, flanked by two Marine sergeants carrying a table. Removing his hat and gloves, he climbed on the table and began his performance.

Spectators counted aloud as he did the regulation 20 push-ups. The performance finished, he bowed to the bleachers and about-faced to salute the official stands. Lt. Gen. E. W. Snedeker, commandant of the Marine Corps Schools in Quantico, came out of the stands to congratulate Mark.

The youngster also received a letter from Maj. P. T. Ziegler of the Marine Corps, commending his display of physical fitness. Sgt. Moeller said he had started his son on a basic schedule of exercises when he was three years old for his own program of physical fitness and health.

The Moellers, who also have a daughter, Victoria, 7, live at 3302 Latimer Ave., Quantico, Va.

Mrs. Reiz Heads Altar, Rosary Of St. Mary's

Mount Pocono — Mrs. George Reiz was elected president of the Altar and Rosary Society of St. Mary of the Mount Church at their meeting in the church auditorium this week. Mrs. William Saganich presided. Other officers elected are Mrs. Louis Vaccola, secretary; and Mrs. Charlotte McGill, treasurer. Mrs. Saganich discharged with thanks the six chairmen who have served in cooperation with the deanery, and the program chairman.

Plans were made for the Children's Christmas Party on Dec. 17 with Mrs. Thomas Sables as chairman. The Christmas party for members will be held Dec. 10 with Mrs. Austin Kennedy making arrangements.

Plans were made to send gifts to the needy in the South for Christmas. Mrs. John Sutton reported that 200 pounds of clothing had been sent during the last three months.

The Rosary was recited for President Kennedy as part of the spiritual bouquet from the Monroe Pike Deanery of Catholic Women.

Rev. William Cusick, moderator, thanked the women who are helping in the cafeteria at the new school. He also stressed the importance of prayer and attending mass during these troubled times.

The religious officers: Mrs. Saganich, Mrs. Vaccola and Mrs. Joseph Ciglietti served refreshments. A film on natural gas was shown.

The Wyckoff Shopper

"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

I am not "a joiner" by nature. My sincere respect goes out to all the many fine federated organizations that are making this world a better place, but until last Tuesday I had joined only one group—the Stroudsburg Business and Professional Women's Club. Today there stands upon my desk a framed certificate of which I am very proud. In flowing script, it proclaims that I have been made an honorary member of the Stroudsburg Chapter of Hadassah.

The presentation was made by President Rita Bernbaum at Tuesday evening's meeting, and nothing could have pleased me more. During the past four years, I have come to know many of the members well, to admire them all, and to realize how justifiably proud they are of the tremendous things their federation has accomplished, as a result of their individual efforts, for the struggling nation of Israel.

I had been invited to review the book, "Woman of Valor: the Story of Henrietta Szold" at this month's meeting, and Irving Fineman's biography of this exceptional woman, who founded Hadassah; became recognized as the world's leading Jewish woman, and was accorded the loving title "Mother in Israel", proved an inspiration I would not care to have missed. As is invariably true, fact is more dramatic than fiction. No author, however imaginative, could have created a woman as exciting as the petite lady with brooding dark eyes, softly waving hair, and slim ankles, who had the wisdom of a prophet, the soul of a poet, and the courage of a tiger. Henrietta Szold, like many other great women, had all of these attributes. No one, seeing her stand in the halls and homes of the mighty, begging for dollars to feed the children of Israel—children uprooted from their families in beast-ridden homelands—would have guessed that just appearing before strangers to raise her voice had once represented a personal struggle for her.

Miss Szold never married. Perhaps none of the men who admired her ever measured up to her beloved, erudite father, the distinguished Rabbi Benjamin Szold. Little did many persons guess that in her forties love finally came—but only to torture her. The man, to whom she reluctantly gave her heart after much soul searching, was thirteen years her junior—a man soul constant contact. She desperately wanted his love, but not even her family realized, at first, her agony when he became engaged to a much younger girl. Neither did they know how she finally humbled herself, as perhaps only great human beings can, to tell him frankly of her feelings; nor of her shame at being rebuffed to the point where even friendship disappeared. This may have been God's way of forcing all the affection and human compassion of which Henrietta Szold was so capable into the channels that much later made her a real "second mother" to her thousands of homeless children, many of whom were mentally ill as a result of their brutal experiences.

Henrietta Szold was a magnificent woman. I was privileged in learning about her. Because I did, and because of the fine caliber of the local women who are continuing her work in Israel through their efforts here at home, I am deeply proud to be an honorary member of Hadassah.

Miss Joan Lee Norton

Grandchild's Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Norton of Sarasota, Fla., announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Lee, to Gerald Eugene Donnell, son of Luke Donnell and the late Mrs. Donnell of Jackson, Miss.

Miss Norton is the grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Doll, RD 2, East Stroudsburg. Both she and Mr. Donnell are graduates of the class of 1951 of Forest Hill High School, Jackson, Miss.

They will be married on Dec. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the Westview Baptist Church, Jackson, Miss.

Homecoming Sunday At Neola Church

Neola — Annual homecoming services will be held Sunday at the Neola Methodist Church with services at 2:30 and 7:30.

Rev. and Mrs. David Fife will furnish music in the afternoon and the Pocono Male Chorus will sing at the evening service.

A covered dish supper will be served at 5 p.m. for those wishing to stay.

You Can Organize Your Way To More Spare Time

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

"Every hour must be well spent," says a working girl I know who succeeds at running her own business in the daytime, helping her husband with a sideline business at night and bringing up her three daughters the rest of the time.

"But tell me how to get organized enough to spend every hour well," pleaded a young suburban wife listening to our conversation.

Doesn't Have Time

"I'd like to work at an office job at least three days a week. But the 24 hours a day I have now won't cover all my present weekly jobs, let alone allow me to take on additional work."

"Sometimes I'm inclined to wonder if you working women have any idea of all the time-consuming jobs we women at home have to do."

"I begin my day by driving my husband to the train," the young wife continued. "Then I hurry home and drive the children to school. After that there's often grocery shopping, the cleaners, laundry, post office and other downtown errands."

Other Tasks

"I push my way through housework while the kids are still in school. But as soon as school is over, there is more driving around for music and dancing lessons, Scout meetings, doctors' and dentists' appointments, and two or three trips to the library a week just to mention a few."

"Explain to me how to find the time with a schedule like this!"

Actually, most of today's working women have the same household demands as the woman who stays home all day. But some demands must be cut out. So from my own experience and the experience of others, I frankly feel the answer — and perhaps the only answer — lies in a cut-out-and-consolidate system.

Consequently, if your life is patterned after the young suburban wife's and you feel all the running around is eliminating your chances for a job, cut out all the daily driving that you don't absolutely have to do and, through better organization, minimize that which you do have to do and arrange a workable schedule around it.

For instance, consolidate your errands by setting up a system in which you do all your downtown jobs in one morning or one afternoon. Let your husband and your children help out with leftover errands on their weekends at home.

Plan Ahead

Avoid last-minute, unexpected trips downtown for food, drugs, stamps, school supplies, household supplies and gifts and cards by preparing ahead for emergencies.

Take advantage of door-to-door services where your needs will come to you rather than your going to them.

Within your home, group your household tasks together.

Time Clock

Here again cut out what you can. Then get yourself a time clock. Try to do the rest of your household tasks at one full swoop in the morning before dinner or at night. And beat the clock in the process.

At first your tightened schedule may split at the seams a bit. But gradually it will teach you to spend every hour well and find more time for a full-time job, a part-time job, or another interest you have.

Fire Co. Aux. Thanked For $5000 Gift

Saylorsburg — At the meeting of the Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Co. at the firehall a report was given on the dedication of the new postoffice which had been sponsored by the auxiliary.

Eva Snyder reported a profit of $472.07 from the recent penny supper held at the firehouse. Elva Knowles presided at the meeting which opened with devotions led by Anna M. Serafas.

Lloyd Faulstich, president of the fire company, explained the recent renovations made at the firehouse and thanked the auxiliary members for the $5000 donation, which had made them possible.

He also asked that members with radio operators licenses who are not active to return them to Elva Knowles or Ann Trach.

After the business meeting, Berne Warner, a member of the fire company, showed a film on "Rescue Operation" as well as one on "The Chicago Fire."

Hostesses were Mrs. Eva Schaffer, Anna Snyder, Gladys McCabe and Muriel Hildabrandt.

The Nov. 28 meeting will be held at the Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. Service Center in Stroudsburg, with members assembling at the Saylorsburg firehall at 7:15.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1961

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Attend to regular duties, completing them before tackling something new. Conserve energy by concentrating on needed work. Mental pursuits, research, correspondence, highly rated.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Take care to choose right program today. Waste time on non-essentials. The evening especially suggests educational or useful group activities. Development of good will, friendships.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — One of your best days. Pleasantly speaking. The early bird snares the advantage. You can star out in front with a little judicious maneuvering. Cheerful companionship important.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — A time for discrimination in dealings and contacts with outsiders. Especially sponsored are shopping, minor matters, study. Well-timed schedule is capable of accomplishing much.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Carry out routine matters with tact, foresight. Take no part in quarrels, quarrels, quarrels. It is at variance with right principles. Discount criticism, except that which is constructive.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Strong benefic influences. Plan, measure, measure on personal matters handled with pulse, patience and day progress. Tension should ease, making evening more peaceful.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Key plan today calls for calm, analytical projection of needs. More deliberation with objective view in mind. Hold to composure. Infill it in associates.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Overcome tendency toward impatience for best performance. Avoid indiscretions, nervous haste. Direct energies to conservative lines rather than with excessive expansion.

November 24 to December 31 (Sagittarius) — Day neither restricted nor very expansive. Be consistent, expanding talents where most needed. Make definite plans, clear, agreeable to all concerned.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — A period for caution in risky matters, hurried ventures. Do not let down in desire or effort to achieve much of what would be thrown away by some foolish initiative, dispatch, sustained effort.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Quite an interesting, productive day possible if you project energies properly. Deal with legitimate sources of supply for quality products. Associate with worthy companions.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Don't underestimate the strength of your opposition. Harmonious vibrations should spur you to greater accomplishments. Adhere to most established methods, sure, fire, routine.

YOUR BORN TODAY are generally of reserved nature, tendencies when you know you are in the right. Your sensitive approach often calls out the nonessential before time is wasted. Fond of luxuries but by some token can be very economical and put to good use much of what would be thrown away by others. Aggressive measures for promotion of personal affairs, business matters, family interests one of your strong points. However, make haste slowly, aiming at efficiency rather than speed, and keep quality ahead of quantity. Others look to you as one to follow. Don't disappoint them. Poise, tact, analytical evaluation can aid you as your career advances. Birthdate of: Theodore Roosevelt, 20th Pres. of the U. S.; Frederick D. Ives, Dutch scholar, publicist; many actors and directors.

Top Teams Should Have Easy Times On Gridiron

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The "big four" of college football—Michigan State, Mississippi, Texas and Alabama—shouldn't be concerned over whether they can win again this week but only by how much. All are favored by two touchdowns and up over their unfortunate opponents.

The powerful Spartans of Michigan State, who have rolled up

96 points while yielding only 10 in their four straight victories, hope to solidify their No. 1 ranking against Indiana, a team that has lost three out of four, at East Lansing, Mich.

Mississippi, chagrined at being knocked out of first place by Michigan State ten days ago, will spill their wrath against Vanderbilt, an off-and-on Southeastern Conference rival, at Oxford, Miss. The Rebels have crushed five foes already.

Texas Choice

Third-ranked Texas, blessed with tremendous player depth, is rated 13½ points better than Rice in the game at Austin and Alabama, which Coach Bear Bryant has turned into a scourge reminiscent of the Tide of the twenties, is 13 over Houston on the latter's field.

Of the first ten ranking teams, Iowa, Louisiana State and Colorado apparently are in for the roughest week-end.

Undeclared Iowa, No. 5, invades Purdue, and is given less than a touchdown edge. LSU, No. 7, tackles a Florida team which has exceptional speed and backfield finesse. Colorado, No. 10, goes to Oklahoma to face the team which once was unbeatable in the Big Eight and until recently stood out as a national power. Colorado is a 6-point choice.

Once-tied Ohio State, No. 6, is favored over Wisconsin in the national television game (ABC at 2:30 p.m. EST) at Madison, Wis. Notre Dame, No. 8, is a solid 10-point pick over Northwestern at South Bend. Georgia Tech, No. 9, is favored by two touchdowns over Tulane at New Orleans.

Army and Navy, moving toward their big service battle Dec. 2, both have opponents who could be troublesome. Army is host at West Point to West Virginia, a team on the rise, and Navy goes to Pittsburgh for a fight with Pitt, a huge, tough team smarting under four defeats.

Top intersectional frays send California against Penn State at State College, Pa., and Illinois against Southern California at Los Angeles.

Trio Named To Court Hall Of Fame

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Andy Phillip, Benny Borgmann and John J. O'Brien have been elected to the Basketball Hall of Fame, it was announced Thursday night.

Selection of the three players brings the Hall of Fame membership to 44. Members will attend the cornerstone laying ceremonies here Nov. 6, when the 70th anniversary of basketball and the 100th anniversary of its founder, Dr. James A. Naismith, also will be observed.

Phillip is coach of the Chicago Majors of the American Basketball League. A member of the University of Illinois "Whiz Kids" during the early 1940s, he played in the National Basketball Association with the Chicago Stags, Philadelphia Warriors, Fort Wayne Pistons and Boston Celtics.

Borgmann, only 5-8, played in 2,500 professional games from 1917 to 1938, scoring more than 25,000 points. He was a member of the original Celtics and later coached St. Michael's and Moultonberg. He currently is a scout for the St. Louis Cardinals.

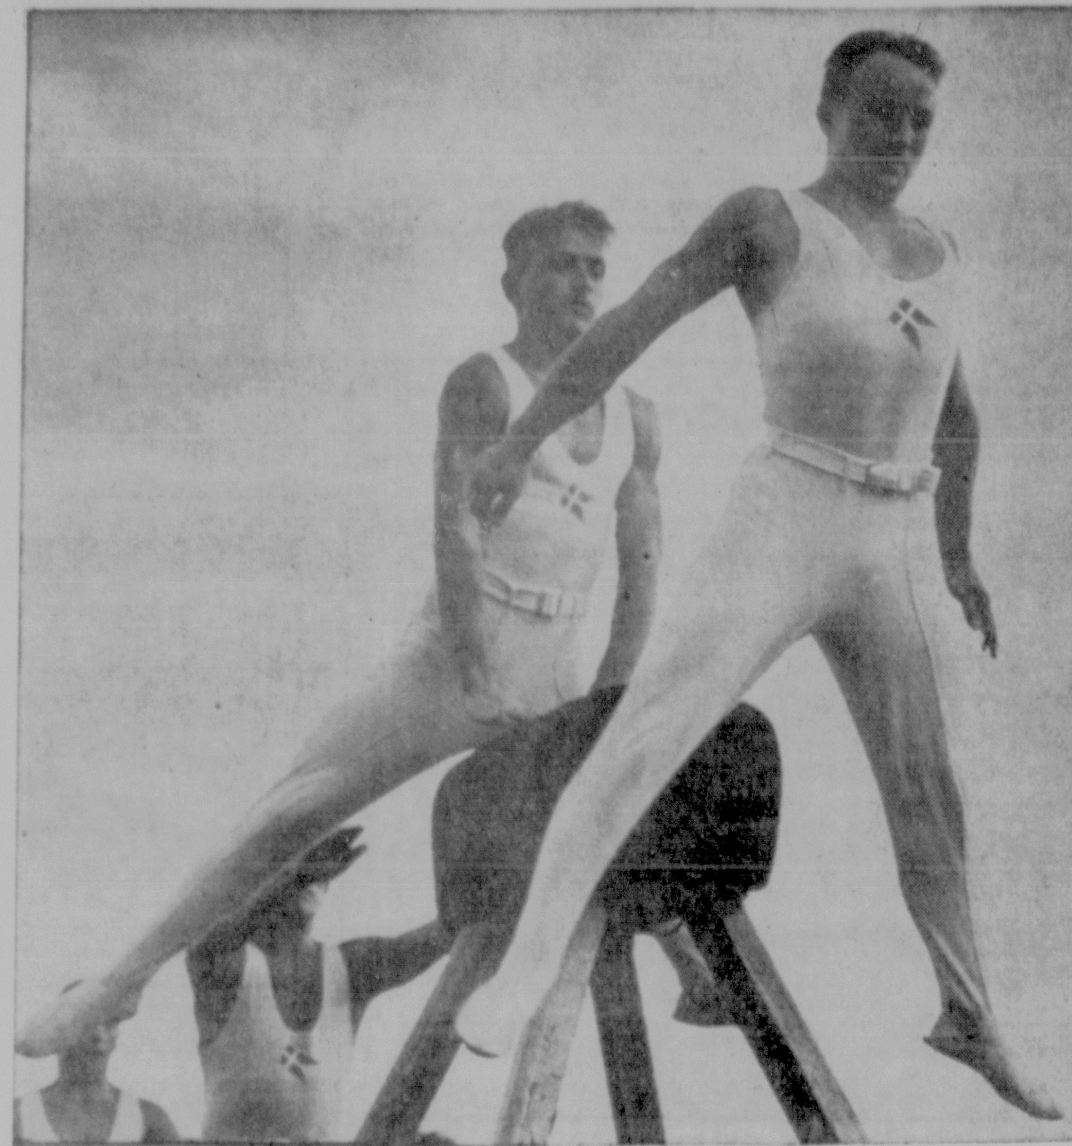

O'Brien organized the Metropolitan Basketball League in 1921 and realigned the American League in 1928. A resident of Rockville Centre, N.Y., he retired in 1963 after serving as president of the American League for 25 years.

Caldwell, Jofre Matched Maybe

LONDON (AP)—John Caldwell of Britain and Eder Jofre of Brazil, rival holders of the disputed world bantamweight boxing title, Thursday were provisionally matched for a fight to decide who really is champion.

Jofre's manager, Abraham Katzenelson, told newsmen that if Caldwell retains his version of the title against Alphonse Halimi of France next Tuesday, the Caldwell-Jofre fight is on—in London.

Caldwell is recognized as world champion in Europe. Jofre is recognized by the National Boxing Association.

Danish Gymnastic Team Performs At ESSC Today

THE Danish Gymnastic team will put on an exhibition tonight at the East Stroudsburg State College gymnasium at 8 p.m.

The event was mistakenly listed yesterday for Saturday night.

The 32 member team spent six months training for its tour and also spent time learning Danish folk dances, which will also be performed tonight.

The type of gymnastics which the current touring party display are not the same as individual competitive gymnastics, which are called German gymnastics, because they originated in Germany. Danish gymnastics are almost entirely team work.

The girls' movements must be graceful and beautiful, the boys' more powerful and decided.

Danish gymnastics have grown out of a general Scandinavian tradition. Over the years this tradition has found its own peculiar expression in Denmark and a comprehensive body of principles and practice has been slowly built up, largely through the work of the late Niels Biukh and other pioneers.

Tonight's exhibition will be open to the public.

Fish Wins 4th Tourney At M. Manor

JOHN Fish won the Mountain Manor annual golf tournament for the fourth time Saturday.

Fish posted a net 68 to defeat a field of 70 at the Marshalls Creek layout.

Three players tied for second with 70s. They were Tony Grosso, L. Sharkey and L. Agard. Grosso had a gross 81, Sharkey 76 and Agard 91.

Low Gross

The low gross in the event was won by R. Fredericks, who shot 79. No player was allowed to win more than one prize, so Fish's 71 gross did not count.

Harold Stettler was second in the gross bracket with 80. C. McMahon had 82 and Pearly Hunt 83.

Fish, who won previously in 1957, 58 and 59 regained the championship from Charles Potcher, last year's winner.

Ramos, McCormick Lead In Home Run Offerings

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a good reason why pitchers Pedro Ramos of Minnesota and Mike McCormick of San Francisco had poor won-lost records in the 1961 baseball season. They were too generous with home run serves.

Ramos yielded 39 homers to lead the American League while McCormick topped the National League with 33, figures compiled by The Associated Press revealed Thursday.

Ramos, who set an American League record by allowing 43 gopher balls in 1957, has served up 209 homers in seven big league seasons. The Twins' right-hander also paced the circuit in 1958. He finished the past campaign with 20 defeats and 11 victories.

Conley 2nd
Gene Conley of Boston was the junior circuit runner-up with 33.

He was followed by Gary Bell and Mudgett Grant of Cleveland, with 32 each.

McCormick permitted only 15 homers in 1960 when he had a 15-12 record. In 1961, he won 13 games and lost 16. The Milwaukee Braves were the Giant lefty's chief tormentors. They had eight homers off him followed by Cincinnati with seven.

Low Burdette of the Braves was right behind the leader with 31 gopher balls. Don Drysdale, Los Angeles was third with 29.

Ramos, who gave up 25 homers in 1960, had the most trouble last season with the new Los Angeles Angels. They tagged him for seven while Baltimore had six off his deliveries.

Nellie Fox of the White Sox had his only two homers of the year off Ramos.

Stroud Union Still Has Chance For .500 Season

THERE is still a chance for Stroud Union High School to pull out a .500 season but it won't be easy.

The Mountaineers have a 2-4 record with four games remaining. Even the most ardent Stroud Union backer can't believe that the Mounties can knock off Northampton. The Konkrete Kids have a league winning streak that started when most of the present Northampton players were still in grade school.

So that leaves the Mounties with three games in the realm of possibility, Catsauqua, Slatington and East Stroudsburg.

The Mounties are at Catsauqua Saturday for a Lehigh-Northampton League game and the start of their run for a .500 season.

Catsauqua is unbeaten in league play and has lost only to Pen Argyl during the regular season.

The Rough Riders have one of the biggest teams in the league, including a three-man middle defensive line that averages 270 pounds a player.

Best Ground Game

The big line could be tough on the Mounties newly found inside running game. Last week against Whitehall, Stroud Union had its best running game in two years, picking up 363 yards on the ground on the way to a 19-13 win.

Halfback Tom Schatzman had almost 160 yards of that total, including a 36 yard run. Schatzman's run may not be a school record but Stulgaitis says it is the longest he can remember.

There is an outside chance that Stroud Union could finish second in the league. Only two of the Mounties' defeats have been by league opponents, while both of their wins have been league triumphs.

T. V. Lark Joins Kelso For P.Ntl.

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — T. V. Lark, a work horse among the thoroughbreds, was chosen Thursday to make up the U.S. team with Kelso in the $100,000 Washington D.C. International on Nov. 11.

T. V. Lark earned his bid to the 10th running of the 1½ mile grass race by winning the Knickerbocker Handicap in New York Wednesday.

The 4-year-old ran the mile and five lengths in 2 minutes, 40 seconds, fastest ever on the grass in America. The previous record was 2:42.

It was the second straight victory for T. V. Lark since a syndicate of Kentucky breeders bought him for $600,000 from Charles McCoy of California.

The Knickerbocker was the fourth victory in 17 races this year for T. V. Lark. His other scores were in the Santa Catalina Handicap, the Los Angeles Handicap and the Hawthorne Gold Cup.

Kelso, the 4-year-old gelding owned by Mrs. Richard du Pont, had his first feel of running on grass Thursday.

The entry field for the International now numbers six with more to come from overseas.

Campbell To Seek Record

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Donald Campbell said Wednesday he would make an attempt on the world land speed record next May—at Salt Lake Eyre, South Australia, if the surface could be smoothed down a bit.

The present land speed record of 294.2 miles an hour was set by the late John Cobb at Bonneville Flats, Utah, in 1947.

Thoroughbred Dies In Fire

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Fire swept through a barn at Jefferson Downs Race Track where about 50 thoroughbred horses were stabled Monday, killing one of the animals and severely burning another.

Firemen said the blaze, which broke out in a tack room, awoke an unidentified groom and he alerted others and helped them free the horses.

The fire destroyed nine stalls, two feed houses and two tack rooms.

Blanchard, 6-year-old owned by S. J. Colino of New Orleans, perished in the flames. Jo Ann Lamar, owned by Mrs. Carl J. Cramm of Durant, Okla., had to be destroyed because of its burns.

No Changes Planned Says Pitt Athletic Director

By MURRAY CHASS
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Name a problem a football team can have, and the Pitt Panthers probably have had it.

That's the story of the weary Panthers as they await Saturday's game against Navy, top team in the East, hoping to end their four-game losing streak.

Numerous injuries, poor passing and catching, poor pass defense, poor blocking and tackling — at one time or another all of these have played a part in Pitt's declining football fortunes.

Nevertheless, there's no panic at Pitt.

"I'm not happy with the situation, but neither are the coaches," Athletic Director Frank Carver said Thursday. "We've had a lot of extenuating circumstances this season, most harmful of which probably has been injuries to key players."

He added:

Best 1-4 Team

"It's unfair to get on the coaches' backs now. I don't foresee any changes. Anyway, I think we're the best 1-4 team in the country. We're going to win some ball games before the season is over."

With only half of the season completed, Coach John Michelosen has lost four starters through injuries — end Woody Hasser, tackle Bob Guzik, guard Roger Coustall and halfback Bob Clemens, last year's leading ground gainer.

Now Ed Clark, subbing for Clemens, has been hurt and may not be ready for Navy. If he can't play, Michelosen will have to depend on a trio of sophomores.

A number of second and third string players also have missed some of the games because of injuries.

Michelosen, who has a lifetime job at Pitt although not necessarily as a coach, also points to weaknesses in passing.

Get Passer

"We really didn't have a passer until last week when Jim Traficant was able to play a full game," he said, referring to the injury quarterback Traficant suffered in pre-season practice.

"But even when we get some good passes, our receivers have had trouble holding onto the ball," he said. "Last week, John Kiprop, one of our top two receivers, dropped three crucial passes. And at times, our blocking for the passer has fallen down."

Michelosen feels the losing streak hasn't dampened his team's desire to win.

"I think the boys' attitude is pretty good," he said. "We have been working pretty hard. We lost two tough ones to Baylor and Washington and even last week's loss to UCLA was a tough one. The boys aren't discouraged."

2-Part Season

The small game season is run in two parts. The first officially opens at 8 a.m. Saturday and runs until Dec. 2. After the first day, hunting is permitted between the hours of 7 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The season will reopen Dec. 26 to Jan. 1.

Cottontail rabbits, squirrels, ruffed grouse, wild turkey, mallards and bobwhite quail become legal game with the start of the season.

It will be the only season for wild turkey, pheasants and bobwhite quail. They will not be included in the second small game period.

Snowshoe rabbits are not included in the list of legal game until the Dec. 26-Jan. 1 period. The game commission announced these bag limits on small game:

Cold Weather Forecast For Opening Of Hunting Season

HARRISBURG (AP) — Crisp, dry weather is expected Saturday for the opening of the small game season in Pennsylvania.

The woods are still dry from the prolonged autumn drought, but northern and western areas got from a quarter-inch to three-fourths of an inch of rain Wednesday. Extra precautions were urged against forest fires.

Weather experts said the underfooting would be dried out quickly by the wind, however, and Saturday is expected to dawn clear and cold for the thousands of sportsmen taking to the woods.

The forecast was for sub-freezing weather in some of the northern counties, with temperatures ranging to the 30s in western sections. There will be a warming trend during the day.

2-Part Season

The small game season is run in two parts. The first officially opens at 8 a.m. Saturday and runs until Dec. 2. After the first day, hunting is permitted between the hours of 7 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Nemeth Scores

John Nemeth of Phillipsburg scored the other Warrior TD. In the third period, with 8:50 remaining, Nemeth went 27 yards on a reverse.

Tackle Jim Farry of Stroudsburg set up Nemeth's touchdown by recovering a Kutztown fumble at mid-field. Only a play earlier, East Stroudsburg had lost the ball on a fumble.

East Stroudsburg scored the first time it had the ball and let Kutztown get into Warrior territory only once.

Coates also set up the final Warrior score by intercepting a pass and returning it 35 yards.
